

Your weekend

And what you need to know to make the most of it

JENNIFER MOORE

The Hamilton Spectator

(Sep 22, 2007)

It's a weekend with one foot in summer and the other in fall. The fantastic weather we've been having pushes into the weekend with highs near 25 C during the day and lows near 15 overnight.

Whether you run through the last breaths of summer at the Ancaster Fall Fair, help keep our shorelines clean or take in a fundraising event, here's a look at events to keep you busy.

Shoreline cleanup challenge

The Bay Area Restoration Council, together with the City of Hamilton, presents the 4th annual Great Canadian Shoreline Cleanup this morning. Volunteer on the Waterfront Trail from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. between Bayfront Park and Princess Point. The shoreline cleanup is an annual nationwide community challenge to clean up over 1,000 waterfront sites across the country. Dress for the weather and don't forget the rubber gloves and sunscreen on this last day of summer! You can register at www.vanaqua.org/cleanup or barc@hamiltonharbour.ca